SHOT BOARDERS IN HIS OWN HOME

His Wife After the Shooting Said That Jealousy Was Cause of the Affair.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
NEWPORT NEWS, VA., April 25.—W.
N. Nagle to-night shot Dessie L, Buskett and J. Trent in his own home, where the wounded men have been boarders. Baskett received two bullets in the abdomen, and now lies at the hospital in a critical condition. An operation will be performed on him before Monday. Trent was shot in the wrist. Nagle was arrested and is now confined in a cell at the station-house. He will not talk about the affair, and has retained Attorney C. C. Mitchell to defend him. The other parties to the affair will not talk.

Mrs. Nagle and Mrs. Noble, her mother, were witnesses to the affair. Conflicting stories are told about the cause of the shooting. One is that Nagle heard a noise down-stairs, called his wife to him, told her it had to stop, and ther followed her down stairs, upbraiding the men. Trent, it is said, resented Nagle's

At the First Baptist Church, College and Broad Streets, the pulpit will be filled at 11 A. M. by the Rev. Dr. J. G. Merrell, president of Fisk University, of Tennessee. At Mount Zlon, of which John Jasper was one time pastor, the Rev. A. S. Cropsy, rector of St. Andrew's, Rochester, N. Y., will preach.

The invitation was addressed to President Ogden, and was signed by W. P. Burrell and W. T. Johnson. In addition to inviting the members of the Conference to the churches, it spoke in unmeasured praise and gratitude of the work of the distinguished body, and thanked North and South alike for the interest they were manifesting in the welfare of the negro.

Mr. Ogden said that as he walked over the lawn a moment before, an old thought came to him with great force, that he was behelding the application of a great genius to the improvement of our civilization.

The grounds and buildings represented the thought of a single man, and the best traditions of the past.

This conference is the organized body when stands for popular education.

Mr. Ogden in closing, said no one tenty years go could have known of the problems which to-day face us, He said that was to such institutions as the University of Virginia that the world was looking for men, clear in mind and clean in mind to solve them.

He made a brief but effective talk, Mr. Barringec presented Dr. Charles W. Kent, a professor in the University, and a member of the State Board of Public Education. The theme assigned him very fittingly was the "Relation of the University to the Public Schools." Dr. Kentsald in opening that while Mr. Jefferson founded the University, but held that if the few had to be educated at the sarfifice and ignorance of the masses, the graded what he might for popular education, as a member of the State Board of Education, of more importance.

the part of the kisser. It is rare, how stirred mightily, and the matter has been brought to public attention through the vits submitted by them.

At this point one W. A. Rascoe made his entrance in this comedy-drama enacted on the stage of real life, and at once assumed the role of villain in the case. He told Mr. Brindle that the caressee in the case was not Mrs. Greaves. That caused the trouble. Falsehood outrurs truth, in a short race, at least, and in this case truth seems to have been distanced, and the scandalous story that the preacher was seen caressing a woman who was not his wife, and that he had publicly put his arm around her, gained wide currency.

TRUTH TO THE FRONT.

Finally truth recovered from the shock of falsehood sufficiently to issue a peppery circular headed, "A Lie Nailed," which starts out with this recitation of facts issued by Rev. Mr. Greaves, followed by several affidavits:

"Whereas, certain slanderous reports concerning myself have been circulated in Reidsylle this week; it being alleged that I was seen with my arm around a lady last Sunday evening while strolling in the direction of the water-works it becomes my duty to reply in the same. To begin with I did put my arm around a I thought the privacy of our walk admitted the privacy of our walk admitted the privacy. But reports have been drevuised that the lady has been my wife."

Messrs. Pettgrew and Brindle then denose through affidavits and attest that Miss Gentry was en route to her Tennessee home from Atlanta, where she nessee home from Atlanta, where she research home from Atlanta, where she wisited friends, and she was met here by the sweetheart, the marriage having been prearranged. They leave for Newbern to morrow.

The trial of the suit for $4.00 against the Seaboard Air Line for the killing of Engineer James R. Watson last July began in Wake Court to-day and will consume several days next week. A wild car loaded with lumber ran out of the main line to the north and collided with Watson's engine as he was bringing a train in from Norlina.

Governor Aycock to-day sent out one thousand personal letters to prominent citizons in all parts of the State urging silion, it being necessary for $10.00 private subscription to be secured before the $10.00 State appropriation is available, under the act by the Legislature.
